

Date: 1/27/2018 11:05:02 AM

Subject: 050907

---

It rains weird in New Mexico. Little squalls travel around looking for tourists.

Our car got wet a lot today. The bugs got cleaned off the windshield. One bug was a caterpillar. It hit at about 65mph on US 180. Think about it.

Today we went to The Catwalk.

The Catwalk is a trail through Whitewater Canyon. At different times, Whitewater was home to Butch Cassidy and Geronimo. Now catwalks and bridges make it hikeable for non-desperados. There was no sun to be seen but it was still a striking view along the creek and up the rock walls.

D&S