Laundry day. Between loads we had our auras photographed uptown. After all, this is Sedona and when you have bought all the crystals you need for the coming year – red coral, emerald, moonstone, cat's eye moonstone, amethyst, jade, angel aura and a master healer – you need to put the cherry on the sundae.

Last time we had this done, it was a fuzzy polaroid and we had to jot down the interpretation on the spot. Now it's digital, baby, and you get a 23 page printout.

You get your seven chakras analyzed (and it doesn't even hurt), your yins and yangs sorted out, your aura size and shape explained, your stress/relaxation/energy reported and some serious explanation of your aura's colors. It is truly revealing and I'll share the key points.

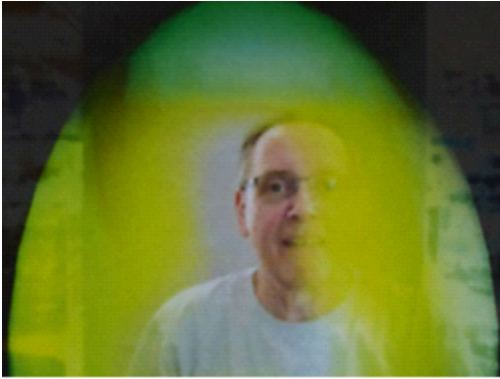

Sheila

- Communicative
- Strong radiant energy

- Centered and stable
- High intuitive energy
- Bright ideas

Dale

- Need to recharge
- Low spiritual quality
- Limited emotional and verbal expression
- Yin-Yang unbalanced
- Never want to grow up

This is why we keep an open mind. Every now and then the metaphysical is so spot-on it's scary.
